Item 4 – Advisory Services

A. Firm Information

Abich Financial Wealth Management, LLC (referred to as “we,” “our,” “us,” “firm,” “Abich Financial Wealth Management” or “Advisor”) is a registered investment advisor located and organized in Virginia. The firm was organized in September of 2020 and registered as an independent investment advisor to offer comprehensive financial planning and tailored investment advice in May 2022.

Abich Financial Wealth Management, LLC is owned 100% by Abraham Abich, who earned his bachelor’s degree in business marketing from Liberty University. Mr. Abich serves as the President and is an Investment Adviser Representative of Abich Financial Wealth Management, LLC.

B. Advisory Services Offered

Investment Management Services

Investment advisor representatives of Abich Financial Wealth Management review investment portfolios on a regular basis and re-balance them periodically; considering tax implications. Regular communication and monitoring allows the firm to adjust the strategy as circumstances change and/or market forces may dictate.

Abich Financial Wealth Management through its investment advisor representatives, provides ongoing investment advice and management on assets in the client’s custodial accounts. During the account opening process, the firm obtains a client’s financial information, risk tolerance, and investment goals to allocate assets in a diversified portfolio. Investment management advice can be discretionary, limited discretionary or non-discretionary as indicated in the client account agreement.

- Discretionary Authority – Client grants Advisor ongoing and continuous discretionary authority to execute its investment recommendations without the Client's prior approval of each specific transaction. Under this authority, Client shall allow Advisor to purchase and sell securities and instruments in this Account(s), arrange for delivery and payment in connection with the foregoing, select and retain sub-advisors, and act on behalf of the Client in all matters necessary or incidental.
- Limited Discretionary Authority – Generally, under this authority, the Advisor will not execute any investment recommendations in accordance with Advisor's Statement of Investment Policy (or similar document used to establish Client's objectives and suitability) without Client’s prior approval (verbal or written). Client may choose to grant Advisor verbal approval time and price discretion which grants Advisor limited discretionary authority. The Advisor will only have discretionary authority to place trades without prior Client approval when rebalancing the account back to previously determined asset levels. The Advisor will only change the asset allocation after obtaining verbal or written approval from the Client.
- Non-Discretionary Authority – Advisor will not execute any investment recommendations without Client’s prior approval (verbal or written).

Clients may place certain restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. More specific account information and acknowledgements are further detailed on the account application. Financial planning is incorporated in the asset management service and generally not offered as a separate service.

Neither the firm nor any investment advisor representative are registered or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or a representative of the foregoing.

The firm requires a minimum of $500,000 in investible assets for comprehensive planning with no minimum required account balance. Abich Financial reserves the right to accept clients under the minimum if the Advisor feels the client is a proper fit for the services provided.

Wrap Fee Program

A wrap fee program is a comprehensive advisory account with a single fee that covers both asset management fees and trade ticket execution charges as well as the possibility of financial planning at no additional cost.

- Abich Financial Wealth Management does not sponsor or act as the portfolio manager of a wrap fee program.

Educational Seminars / Workshops

Abich Financial Wealth Management hosts complimentary educational workshops on retirement every month at local restaurants and colleges. These workshops offer the opportunity to learn more about how we can help protect your financial future. Specific investment advice or recommendations are not provided at the firm's educational seminars/workshops.

Retirement Plan Rollovers

An employee generally has four (4) options for their retirement plan when they leave an employer:

1. Leave the money in his/her former employer's plan, if permitted;
2. Rollover the assets to his/her new employer's plan, if one is available and permitted;
3. Rollover to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA); or,
4. Cash out the account value, which has significant tax considerations.

When Abich Financial Wealth Management provides investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and

- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

Abich Financial Wealth Management also provides educational services to retirement plan participants with assets that could potentially be rolled-over to an IRA advisory account.

C. Client Account Management

Prior to engaging Abich Financial Wealth Management, each Client is required to enter into an investment advisory agreement that defines the terms, conditions, authority and responsibilities of the Advisor and the Client.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

The following paragraphs detail the fee structure and compensation methodology for services provided by the Advisor. Each Client engaging the Advisor for services described herein shall be required to enter into a written agreement with the Advisor.

A. Fees for Advisory Services

Fees are paid monthly in arrears. Fees are calculated based on the average daily balance at the end of each month.

- Additional funds added to accounts will be billed on a prorated basis.
- Fees on managed accounts are deducted from assets unless directed otherwise by you.
- Fees are not negotiable.
- Investment advisory fees are deducted by the custodian from Client accounts.
- Each time a fee is deducted the firm will concurrently send the qualified custodian and Client an invoice itemizing the fee that includes the formula used to calculate the fee, the amount of assets under managements the fee is based on, and the time period covered by the fee.
- Client will also receive monthly statements from the Custodian that provides details of the advisory fees.

Investment advisory fees are based on the market value of assets under management at the end of the prior month. Investment advisory fees do not exceed 1.5% of assets under management unless the scope, complexity or time required warrant a higher or lower fee.

- The investment advisory fee in the first period of service is pro-rated from the inception date of the account[s] to the end of the first month.
- The firm will not have the authority or responsibility to value portfolio securities.
- If a client terminates an engagement before the billing period ends, a pro-rated fee calculation will be applied before releasing the funds.

- Asset management fees are exclusive of and in addition to, brokerage fees, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses.

B. Mutual Fund Share Class Disclosures

Certain mutual fund share classes charge a 12b-1 fee that generally amounts to an additional .25% expense ratio or more. The purpose of 12b-1 fees, as approved by the SEC, are to cover marketing expenses and shareholder services such as support services and “other expenses” such as legal, accounting and the administrative functions of the custodian. When selecting a mutual fund, Investment Advisor Representatives have a fiduciary duty to choose the share class that helps manage the overall fee structure of the account. The entire fee structure includes such fees as the asset management fee, the expense ratio and ticket charges.

- Mutual funds typically offer multiple share classes, including lower-cost share classes that do not charge 12b-1 fees and are therefore usually less expensive.
- Investment Advisor Representatives will consider investing client funds in 12b-1 fee-paying share classes even when a lower-cost share class is available as appropriate to account for the overall fee structure and tax considerations as well as attributes of a fund not available for lesser fees.

C. Financial Planning Fees

Fees for financial planning range from $1,000 to $5,000. The fee is negotiable at the sole discretion of Abich Wealth Management and can be greater than $5,000 based on the scope and complexity as well as the amount of time and expertise required. An account can be terminated with written notice at least 30 calendar days in advance. In the event of early termination by the client, any unearned fees will be refunded.

Prior to engaging the firm to provide stand-alone planning or consulting services, Clients are required to enter into an Agreement setting forth the terms and conditions of the engagement including the agreed upon price. Fees for financial planning are billed (not deducted) 50% upon engagement with the balance due upon delivery of a written or verbal plan.

D. Compensation for Sales of Securities

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not buy or sell securities. The firm does not receive any compensation for securities transactions in any Client account, other than the investment advisory fees noted above. Additional information about Brokerage Services is provided in Item 12.

E. Other Fees and Expenses

Clients will pay the following separately incurred expenses, which we do not receive any part of: charges imposed directly by a mutual fund, index fund, or exchange traded fund which shall be disclosed in the fund’s prospectus (i.e., fund management fees and other fund expenses).

If a client’s assets are invested in mutual funds or other pooled investment products, Clients should be aware that there will be two layers of advisory fees and expenses for those assets. Client will pay an advisory fee to the fund manager and other expenses as a shareholder of the fund. Client will also pay Advisor the advisory fee with respect to those assets. Most of the mutual funds available in the program may be purchased directly. Therefore, clients could generally avoid the second layer of fees by not using the management services of Advisor and by making their own investment decisions. Clients can incur fees or charges imposed by third parties, other than the firm, in connection with investments made on behalf of the Client's account[s]. The Client is responsible for all custody and securities execution fees charged by the executing broker/dealer.

- The fees charged by the firm are separate and distinct from custodial and execution fees.
- All fees paid to the firm are separate and distinct from the expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These fees and costs are described in each fund's prospectus.
- See Item 12 for additional information regarding brokerage practices.
- Further information regarding fees assessed by a mutual fund is available in the appropriate prospectus.

A Client could invest directly, without the services of Abich Financial Wealth Management, but would not receive the advisory services to assist in determining which products or features are most appropriate for their financial situation and objectives. Accordingly, the Client should review the fees charged by the fund[s] and the fees charged by the firm to fully understand the total costs.

F. Educational Seminars / Workshops

There are no fees for educational seminars /workshops.

G. Termination

Investment Management Services

A contract between Abich Financial Wealth Management and a Client may be cancelled at any time with thirty days prior written notice. Clients will be given this brochure form ADV Part 2A, forty-eight hours in advance of signing an agreement or they will have five business days to unconditionally cancel the agreement.

Abich Financial Wealth Management will refund any unearned, prepaid investment advisory fees from the effective date of termination to the end of the quarter. The Client's investment advisory agreement with the Advisor is non-transferable without the Client's prior approval.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Neither the firm or any supervised persons accepts performance-based fees, fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client such as a hedge fund or other pooled investment vehicle.

The firm does not participate in side-by-side management.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Abich Financial Wealth Management offers services to individuals and high net worth individuals.

The number of each type of Client is provided on Form ADV Part 1A. These numbers change over time and are updated at least annually.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis

The firm uses a combination of multiple forms of analysis in order to formulate investment advice when managing assets. Depending on the analysis the firm will implement a long or short-term trading strategy based on the particular objectives and risk tolerance of a particular client.

- Fundamental Analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages. Fundamental analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.
- Technical Analysis involves the analysis of past market data; primarily price and volume. Technical analysis attempts to predict a future stock price or direction based on market trends. The assumption is that the market follows discernible patterns and if these patterns can be identified then a prediction can be made. The risk is that markets do not always follow patterns and relying solely on this method may not take into account new patterns that emerge over time.
- Cyclical Analysis involves the analysis of business cycles to find favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security. Cyclical analysis assumes that the markets react in cyclical patterns which, once identified, can be leveraged to provide performance. The risks with this strategy are two-fold: 1) the markets do not always repeat cyclical patterns; and 2) if too many investors begin to implement this strategy, then it changes the very cycles these investors are trying to exploit.
- Charting Analysis involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends.

B. Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves certain investment risks. Securities fluctuate in value. Clients should be prepared to bear the risk of loss. Abich Financial Wealth Management will assist Clients in determining an appropriate strategy based on their tolerance for risk; however, there is no guarantee that a Client will meet their investment goals.

- Act of God – a natural and unavoidable catastrophe that interrupts the expected course of events, market structure and access to funds.

- Business Risk – the measure of risk associated with a particular security. It is also known as unsystematic risk and refers to the risk associated with a specific issuer of a security. Generally speaking, all businesses in the same industry have similar types of business risk. More specifically, business risk refers to the possibility that the issuer of a particular company stock or a bond may go bankrupt or be unable to pay the interest or principal in the case of bonds.
- Call Risk – the risk specific to bond issues and refers to the possibility that a debt security will be called prior to maturity. Call risk usually goes hand in hand with reinvestment risk because the bondholder must find an investment that provides the same level of income for equal risk. Call risk is most prevalent when interest rates are falling, as companies trying to save money will usually redeem bond issues with higher coupons and replace them on the bond market with issues with lower interest rates.
- Company Specific Risk – an unsystemic risk specific to a certain company's operations, executive decisions and reputation which is difficult to quantify
- Concentration Risk – concentrated portfolios are an aggressive and highly volatile approach to trading and investing and should be viewed as complementary to a stable, highly predictable investment approach. Concentrated portfolios hold fewer different stocks than a diversified portfolio and are much more likely to experience sudden dramatic price swings. In addition, the rise or drop in price of any given holding in the portfolio is likely to have a larger impact on portfolio performance, than a more broadly diversified portfolio.
- Credit Risk – the risk that an investor could lose money if the issuer or guarantor of a fixed income security is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations.
- Currency/Exchange Rate Risk – the risk of a change in the price of one currency against another.
- Interest Rate Risk – the risk that fixed income securities will decline in value because of an increase in interest rates; a bond or a fixed income fund with a longer duration will be more sensitive to changes in interest rates than a bond or bond fund with a shorter duration.
- Inflationary Risk – the risk that future inflation will cause the purchasing power of cash flow from an investment to decline.
- Legislative Risk – the risk of a legislative ruling resulting in adverse consequences.
- Liquidity Risk – the possibility that an investor may not be able to buy or sell an investment as and when desired or in sufficient quantities because opportunities are limited.
- Market Risk – the risk that the value of securities may go up or down, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries. This is a risk that will affect all securities in the same manner caused by some factor that cannot be controlled by diversification

- Reinvestment Risk – the risk that falling interest rates will lead to a decline in cash flow from an investment when its principal and interest payments are reinvested at lower rates.
- Social/Political Risk – the possibility of nationalization, unfavorable government action or social changes resulting in a loss of value.
- Taxability Risk – the risk that a security that was issued with tax-exempt status could potentially lose that status prior to maturity. Since municipal bonds carry a lower interest rate than fully taxable bonds, the bond holders would end up with a lower after-tax yield than originally planned.
- Terrorism Risk – an act of terror or calculated use of violence against the country, market structure or individuals.

There are different types of investments that involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s). Past performance is not indicative of future results.

C. Types of Investments (Examples, not limitations)

- Alternative Investments – The performance of alternative investments (limited partnerships) can be volatile and may have limited liquidity. An investor could lose all or a portion of their investment. Such investments often have concentrated positions and investments that may carry higher risks. Client should only have a portion of their assets in these investments.
- Annuities – are a retirement product for those who may have the ability to pay a premium now and want to guarantee they receive certain monthly payments or a return on investment later in the future. Annuities are contracts issued by a life insurance company designed to meet requirement or other long-term goals. An annuity is not a life insurance policy.
- Variable Annuities – If client purchases a variable annuity that is part of the program, client will receive a prospectus and should rely solely on the disclosure contained in the prospectus with respect to the terms and conditions of the variable annuity. Client should also be aware that certain riders purchased with a variable annuity may limit the investment options and the ability to manage the subaccounts. Variable annuities typically offer:
 - Regular stream of income or a lump sum payout at a future time
 - Tax-deferred treatment of earnings
 - Death benefits

Variable annuities are designed to be long-term investments, to meet retirement and other long-range goals. Variable annuities are not suitable for meeting short-term goals because substantial taxes and insurance company charges apply if money is withdrawn early. Variable annuities also involve investment risks, like mutual funds.

- Cash Positions – Based on perceived or anticipated market conditions and/or events, certain assets may be taken out of the market and held in a defensive cash position. All cash may be included as assets subject to the agreed upon advisory fee. Other investment types may be included as appropriate for a particular client and their respective trading objectives. Abich Financial Wealth Management will generally invest clients' cash balances in money market funds, FDIC Insured Certificates of Deposit, high-grade commercial paper and/or government backed debt instruments. Ultimately, we try to achieve a reasonable return on our client's cash balances through relatively low-risk conservative investments.
- Equity – investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate in response to specific situations for each company, industry conditions and the general economic environment.
- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) – An ETF is a portfolio of securities invested to track a market index like an index mutual fund, but the shares are traded on an exchange like an equity. An ETF share price fluctuates intraday depending on market conditions instead of having a net asset value (NAV) that is calculated once at the end of the day. The shares may trade at a premium or discount; and as a result, investors pay when purchasing shares and receive more or less than when selling shares. The supply of ETF shares is regulated through a mechanism known as creation and redemption that involves large specialized investors, known as authorized participants (APs). Authorized participants are large financial institutions with a high degree of buying power, such as market makers, banks or investment companies that provide market liquidity. When demand increases, more ETF shares can be created and when demand decreases, the ETF can be disassembled back into single securities. Multiple authorized participants help improve the liquidity of an ETF and stabilize the share price. To the extent that authorized participants cannot or are otherwise unwilling to engage in creation and redemption transactions, shares of an ETF tend to trade at a significant discount or premium and may face trading halts and delisting from the exchange. The performance of ETFs is subject to market risk, including the complete loss of principal. ETFs also have a trading risk based on cost inefficiency if the ETFs are actively traded and a liquidity risk if the ETFs has a significant price spread and low trading volume. In addition, investors buying or selling shares in the secondary market pay brokerage commissions, which is a cost not incurred by mutual funds. Like mutual funds, shares of an ETF represent partial ownership of an underlying portfolio of securities.
- Inverse ETFs - An inverse ETF seeks to deliver inverse returns of underlying indexes. To achieve their investment results, inverse ETFs generally use derivative securities, such as swap agreements, forwards, futures contracts and options. Inverse ETFs are designed for speculative traders and investors seeking tactical day trades against their respective underlying indexes. Inverse ETFs only seek investment results that are the inverse of their benchmarks' performances for one day only. Inverse ETFs carry many risks and are not suitable for risk-averse investors. This type of ETF is best suited for sophisticated, highly risk-tolerant investors who are comfortable with taking on the risks inherent to inverse ETFs. The principal risks associated with investing in inverse ETFs include compounding risk, derivative securities risk, correlation risk and short sale exposure risk. Compounding risk is one of the main types of risks affecting inverse ETFs. Inverse ETFs held for periods longer than one day are affected by compounding returns. Since an inverse ETF has a single-day investment objective of providing investment results that are one times the inverse of its underlying index, the fund's performance likely differs from its investment objective for periods greater than one day. Investors who wish to hold inverse ETFs for periods exceeding one day must actively manage and rebalance their positions to mitigate compounding risk.

- Exchange-Traded Notes (ETNs) – An ETN is a senior unsecured debt obligation designed to track the total return of an underlying market index or other benchmark. ETNs may be linked to a variety of assets, for example, commodity futures, foreign currency and equities. ETNs are similar to ETFs in that they are listed on an exchange and can typically be bought or sold throughout the trading day.
- Fixed Income – investments generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, leveraged loans, high yield, and investment grade debt and structured products, such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best-known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal. Risks of investing in foreign fixed income securities also include the general risk of non-U.S. investing described below.
- Mutual Funds – a pool of funds collected from many investors for the purpose of investing in securities such as stocks, bonds, money market instruments and similar assets.
 - Open-End Mutual Funds – a type of mutual fund that does not have restrictions on the amount of shares the fund will issue and will buy back shares when investors wish to sell. Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.
 - Closed-End Mutual Funds – a type of mutual fund that raises a fixed amount of capital through an initial public offering (IPO). The fund is then structured, listed and traded like a stock on a stock exchange. Clients should be aware that closed-end funds available within the program are not readily marketable. To provide investor liquidity, the funds may offer to repurchase a certain percentage of shares at net asset value on a periodic basis. Thus, clients may be unable to liquidate all or a portion of their shares in these types of funds.
 - Alternative Strategy Mutual Funds – Certain mutual funds available in the program invest primarily in alternative investments and/or strategies. Investing in alternative investments and/or strategies may not be suitable for all investors and involves special risks, such as risks associated with commodities, real estate, leverage, selling securities short, the use of derivatives, potential adverse market forces, regulatory changes and potential illiquidity. There are special risks associated with mutual funds that invest principally in real estate securities, such as sensitivity to changes in real estate values and interest rates and price volatility because of the fund's concentration in the real estate industry.

- Non-U.S. Securities – present certain risks such as currency fluctuation, political and economic change, social unrest, changes in government regulation, differences in accounting and the lesser degree of accurate public information available.
- Regulation D Private Placements - Under the federal securities laws, any offer or sale of a security must either be registered with the SEC or meet an exemption. Regulation D under the Securities Act provides a number of exemptions from the registration requirements, allowing some companies to offer and sell their securities without having to register the offering with the SEC. However, a "Form D" must be electronically filed with the SEC after they first sell their securities. Form D is a brief notice that includes the names and addresses of the company's promoters, executive officers and directors, and some details about the offering, but contains little other information about the company.
- Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) - A real estate investment trust ("REIT") is a company that owns, operates or finances income-producing real estate. REITs provide investors the chance to own real estate and present the potential of dividend-based income and total returns. REITs invest in a wide scope of real estate property types, including offices, apartment buildings, warehouses, retail centers, medical facilities, data centers, cell towers, infrastructure and hotels. Most REITs focus on a particular property type, but some hold multiple types of properties in their portfolios.
- Short Sales - A short sale involves the sale of a security that the Client does not own in the hope of purchasing the same security at a later date at a lower price. To make delivery to the buyer, the Client must borrow the security and is obligated to return the security to the lender, which is accomplished by a later purchase of the security. The Client realizes a profit or a loss as a result of a short sale if the price of the security decreases or increases respectively between the date of the short sale and the date on which the Client covers its short position, i.e., purchases the security to replace the borrowed security. A short sale involves the theoretically unlimited risk of an increase in the market price of the security that would result in a theoretically unlimited loss.
- Unit Investment Trust (UIT) – An investment company that offers a fixed, unmanaged portfolio, generally of stocks and bonds, as redeemable "units" to investors for a specific period. It is designed to provide capital appreciation and/or dividend income. UITs can be resold in the secondary market. A UIT may be either a regulated investment corporation (RIC) or a grantor trust. The former is a corporation in which the investors are joint owners; the latter grants investors proportional ownership in the UIT's underlying securities.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involve a risk of loss that each Client should understand and be willing to bear. Clients are reminded to discuss these risks with the Advisor.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would-be material to your evaluation of an advisory firm or the integrity of a firm's management. Any such disciplinary information for the company and the company's investment advisor representatives would be provided herein and publicly accessible by selecting the Investment Advisor Search option at <http://www.adviserinfo.sec.gov>. There are no legal or disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Registration as a Broker/Dealer or Broker/Dealer Representative

Futures and Commodities

Neither Abich Financial Wealth Management nor any of the management persons are registered or has a registration pending to register as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

Insurance

Investment Advisor Representatives of Abich Financial Wealth Management are also insurance agents of Abich Financial Services, Inc., an affiliated insurance company, appointed with multiple carriers to sell insurance products. Abich Financial Services and Abich Financial Wealth Management are under common control. Mr. Abich (CRD #5015292) is the owner of Abich Financial Services. There are no referral arrangements between Abich Financial Services and Abich Financial Wealth Management. Insurance products are sold for commission compensation, which is a conflict of interest. This conflict of interest is mitigated by a fiduciary duty to act in a client's best interest.

Clients are not obligated to purchase recommended insurance products through the carriers or business entity recommended by the firm's investment advisor representatives ("IARs").

Other Investment Advisors

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not recommend or select other investment advisors.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

A. Code of Ethics

Abich Financial Wealth Management maintains a Code of Ethics establishing a standard of business conduct for all employees that are based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust.

The Code of Ethics includes guidelines regarding personal securities transactions of its employees and investment advisor representatives.

An investment advisor is considered a fiduciary. As a fiduciary, it is an investment advisor's responsibility to provide fair and full disclosure of all material facts and to act solely in the best interest of each of our clients at all times. Our fiduciary duty is considered the core underlying principle for our Code of Ethics which also includes Insider Trading and Personal Securities Transactions Policies and Procedures. Abich Financial Wealth Management, LLC requires all of our supervised persons to conduct business with the highest level of ethical standards and to comply with all federal and state securities laws at all times. Upon employment or affiliation, all supervised persons will sign an acknowledgement that they have read, understand, and agree to comply with our Code of Ethics. Our firm and supervised persons must conduct business in an honest, ethical, and fair manner and avoid all circumstances that might negatively affect or appear to affect our duty of complete loyalty to all clients. This disclosure is provided to give all clients a summary of our Code of Ethics. However, if a client or a potential client wishes to review our Code of Ethics in its entirety, a copy will be provided promptly upon request. To request a copy of our Code, please contact us at (571) 577-9968 or via email at <mailto:angela@abichfinancial.com>.

B. Personal Trading with Material Interest

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not act as principal in any transactions. In addition, the Advisor does not act as the general partner of a fund or advise an investment company. Abich Financial Wealth Management does not have a material interest in any securities traded in Client accounts.

C. Personal Trading in Same Securities as Clients

Abich Financial Wealth Management allows our Supervised Persons to purchase or sell the same securities that may be recommended to and purchased on behalf of Clients. Owning the same securities that are recommend (purchase or sell) to a Client represents a conflict of interest that, as fiduciaries, we must disclose to you and mitigate through policies and procedures. As noted above, we have adopted the Code to address insider trading (material non-public information controls); gifts and entertainment; outside business activities and personal securities reporting. When trading for personal accounts, Supervised Persons may have a conflict of interest if trading in the same securities. The fiduciary duty to act in the best interest of its Clients can potentially be violated if personal trades are made with more advantageous terms than Client trades, or by trading based on material non-public information. This risk is mitigated by Abich Financial Wealth Management requiring reporting of personal securities trades by its access Persons for review by Angela Mari, the Chief Compliance Officer (“CCO”) by conducting a coordinated review of personal accounts and the accounts of the Clients. We have also adopted written policies and procedures to detect the misuse of material, non-public information.

- This presents a conflict of interest because trading by an employee or Investment Advisor Representatives in a personal securities account in the same or different security on or about the same time as trading by a client could potentially disadvantage the client.
- Abich Financial Wealth Management addresses this conflict of interest by requiring in its Code of Ethics that employees and investment advisor representatives report certain personal securities transactions and holdings to Angela Mari, the Chief Compliance Officer for review.

D. Personal Trading at Same Time as Client

While Abich Financial Wealth Management, allows our Supervised Persons to purchase or sell the same securities that may be recommended to and purchased on behalf of Clients, such trades are typically aggregated with Client orders or traded afterwards. At no time will Abich Financial Wealth Management, or any Supervised Person of Abich Financial Wealth Management, transact in any security to the detriment of any Client.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Abich Financial Wealth Management will suggest brokers or dealers to be used based on execution and custodial services offered, cost, quality of service and industry reputation. More specifically, Abich Financial Wealth Management will consider factors such as commission price, speed and quality of execution, client management tools, and convenience of access for both the Advisor and client in making its suggestion.

Selection of Broker-Dealer

Abich Financial Wealth Management participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TD Ameritrade”), member FINRA/SIPC. TD Ameritrade is an independent [and unaffiliated] SEC-registered broker-dealer. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment Advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. Advisor receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program.

Clients are under no obligation to purchase or sell securities through institutional investment custodians or any other recommended custodian or broker/dealer. Concentrating business with one custodian can benefit all clients by lowering some mutual fund transaction fees. We prefer to recommend custodians for this reason and because our back-office operations are more complex if we use multiple custodians. Clients are unable to choose a qualified custodian other than those recommended by Abich Financial Wealth Management. Not all Registered Investment Advisors require clients to execute through a specific broker/dealer.

TD Ameritrade, Inc.

There is no direct link between Advisor’s participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors.

- These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations;
- research related products and tools; consulting services;
- access to a trading desk serving Advisor participants;
- access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts);
- the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information;
- access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and,
- discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to Advisor by third-party vendors.

TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Advisor’s related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit Advisor but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist Advisor in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by Advisor or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Advisor or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Best Execution

The commissions and transaction fees paid by Clients comply with the firm's duty to obtain best execution; however, clients may pay a commission that is higher than what another broker-dealer charges based on the total value of services received. Price is not the only factor to consider for best execution. Instead, best execution takes into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although the firm seeks competitive rates, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates.

Aggregation & Allocation of Transactions

Although each client's portfolio accounts are individually managed, Abich Financial Wealth Management will aggregate client orders when there is an opportunity to do so to allow all clients to receive the same execution price.

If the aggregated purchase or sale involves several executions to complete the transaction, clients will receive the average price paid or received on the aggregated transaction. However, if an aggregated transaction results in only a partial execution and the equal allocation of the partial execution amongst multiple clients would result in an inefficient trading unit in client portfolios. The firm reserves the right to allocate the transaction to specific individual clients on an equitable rotational basis so that over time, no client is disadvantaged in the management of its portfolio.

Directed Brokerage

The firm does not accept directed brokerage arrangements (when a client requires that account transactions be executed through a specific broker/dealer). By directing brokerage, the firm may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transactions, and that this practice may cost clients more money.

Soft Dollars

As part of our fiduciary duties to you, we always endeavor to put your interests first. You should be aware that the receipt of economic benefits by our Firm is considered to create a conflict of interest. In recommending a broker-dealer, we will consider the value of research and additional brokerage products and services that broker-dealer has provided or will provide to our clients and our Firm. Receipt of these additional brokerage products and services are considered to have been paid for with "soft dollars." Because such services could be considered to provide a benefit to our Firm, we have a conflict of interest.

We could receive benefits by selecting a particular broker-dealer to execute your transactions, and the transaction compensation charged by that broker-dealer might not be the lowest compensation we might otherwise be able to negotiate. Products and services that we may receive from broker-dealers may consist of research data and analyses, financial publications, recommendations or other information about particular companies and industries (through research reports and otherwise), and other products or services (e.g., software and data bases) that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to our Firm in the performance of our investment related decision-making responsibilities. Consistent with applicable rules, brokerage products and services consist primarily of computer services and software that permit our Firm to effect securities transactions and perform functions incidental to transaction execution. We use such products and services in our general investment decision making, not just for those accounts for which commissions may be considered to have been used to pay for the products or services.

The test for determining whether a service, product, or benefit obtained from or at the expense of a broker constitutes “research” under this definition is whether the service, product, or benefit assists our Firm in investment decision-making for discretionary client accounts. Services, products, or benefits that do not assist in investment decision-making for discretionary client accounts do not qualify as “research.” Also, services, products, or benefits that are used in part for investment decision-making for discretionary client accounts and in part for other purposes (such as accounting, corporate administration, recordkeeping, performance attribution analysis, client reporting, or investment decision-making for the Firm’s own investment accounts) constitute “research” only to the extent that they are used in investment decision-making for discretionary client accounts.

Abich Financial Wealth Management receives support services without cost, at a discount, or a negotiated rate from TD Ameritrade. For example, such things as research reports or other information about particular companies or industries; economic surveys, data and analyses; financial publications; portfolio evaluation services; financial database software and services; computerized news and pricing services; quotation equipment for use in running software used in investment decision-making. The firm does not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services which creates an incentive to select or recommend a broker/dealer based on an interest in receiving the research and/or other products or services, rather than a clients’ interest in receiving most favorable execution.

Abich Financial also receives benefits through its relationship with Impact Partnership and Impact Partnership Wealth. Abich Financial has access to research, software, technology, reporting, ongoing product education, marketing support, advertising campaigns, workshop material, and website services.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not receive client referrals from a broker/dealer or third party.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

A. Frequency of Reviews

Securities in Client accounts are monitored on a regular and continuous basis by Angela Mari Chief Compliance Officer of Abich Financial Wealth Management. Formal reviews are generally conducted at least annually or more or less frequently depending on the needs of the Client.

The nature of the reviews includes an evaluation of account holdings against investment objectives, time horizons and risk profiles as well as financial plans for consistency.

B. Causes for Reviews

In addition to the investment monitoring noted in Item 13.A., each Client account shall be reviewed at least annually. Reviews may be conducted more or less frequently at the Client’s request. Accounts may be reviewed as a result of major changes in economic conditions, known changes in the Client’s financial situation, and/or large deposits or withdrawals in the Client’s account. The Client is encouraged to notify Abich Financial Wealth Management if changes occur in the Client’s personal financial situation that might adversely affect the Client’s investment plan. Additional reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events.

Angela Mari, the Chief Compliance Officer, will also conduct account reviews based on the occurrence of a triggering event, such as a change in client investment objectives and/or financial situation, market corrections and by client request.

C. Review Reports

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Compensation Received by Abich Financial Wealth Management

Abich Financial Wealth Management is a fee-based advisory firm, that is compensated solely by its Clients and not from any investment product. Abich Financial Wealth Management does not receive commissions or other compensation from product sponsors, broker-dealers or any un-related third party. Abich Financial Wealth Management may refer Clients to various unaffiliated, non- advisory professionals (e.g. attorneys, accountants, estate planners) to provide certain financial services necessary to meet the goals of its Clients. Likewise, Abich Financial Wealth Management may receive non-compensated referrals of new Clients from various third parties.

Investment Advisor Representatives (“IARs”) of Abich Financial Wealth Management may qualify for certain sales incentives or other types of awards based on the value of assets under management or investment products and services sold. For example, IARs may become eligible to receive additional compensation amounts, marketing dollars, reimbursement for approved business expenses, and attendance at various forms of entertainment or attendance at events and educational conferences hosted or subsidized by the sponsors of certain investment products or third-party asset manager programs.

Investment Advisor Representatives (“IARs”) of Abich Financial Wealth Management may also receive commissions from the sales of insurance products generated as an insurance agent.

B. Client Referrals from Solicitors

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not engage paid solicitors for Client referrals.

Item 15 – Custody

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not have direct custody of client funds or securities. However, as a consequence of the authority to make withdrawals from client accounts to pay advisory fees the firm has indirect or constructive custody. The firm provides the following safeguards:

1. The firm obtains written authorization from the client to deduct advisory fees from the account held with the qualified custodian.
2. Each time a fee is directly deducted from a client account, the firm will concurrently send the qualified custodian an invoice of the amount of the fee to be deducted from the client’s account and send the client an invoice itemizing the fee. Itemization includes the formula used to calculate the fee, the amount of assets under managements the fee is based on, and the time period covered by the fee.

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not provide custodial services to its clients. Client assets are held with banks, financial institutions or registered broker-dealers that are "qualified custodians". Clients will receive statements directly from the qualified custodians at least quarterly. Clients are urged to carefully review those statements. Clients do not receive account statements from Abich Financial Wealth Management.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

The client can determine to engage Abich Financial Wealth Management to provide investment advisory services on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Full discretion includes the authority to determine the securities to be bought or sold and well as the amount. Prior to Abich Financial Wealth Management assuming discretionary authority over a client's account, the client shall be required to execute a written agreement, granting Abich Financial Wealth Management full authority to buy, sell, or otherwise effect transactions.

When discretionary authority is granted, the firm will have the ability to determine the securities to be bought or sold, the amount of securities to be bought or sold, and the broker/dealer to be used for a purchase or sale of securities for a client's account without consulting the client first. Clients may place reasonable trading limitations as indicated on the asset management agreement.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Abich Financial Wealth Management does not accept proxy-voting responsibility for any Client. Clients will receive proxy statements directly from the Custodian. The Advisor will assist in answering questions relating to proxies, however, the Client retains the sole responsibility for voting. Clients may contact the firm at (571) 577-9968 with any questions about proxies.

Item 18 – Financial Information
